

Careers, Employability, Enterprise Education and Work Experience Policy Incorporating Springhead School Provider Access Policy Statement

Date: March 2024 Date for Review: March 2025

Context and Rationale

We are committed to providing a planned programme of Careers Education, Information and Guidance for all students in Years 9-14. This is based within the Preparing for Adulthood model which the school promotes for each young person.

Students from Early Years and above have access to a programme of learning about the world of work, improving communication and interaction in relation to the world of work and Personal and Social skills learning through planned learning opportunities.

From September 2013 the Education Act of 2001 placed schools under a duty to ensure that all registered students in Years 8-13 have access to independent, accurate and impartial information, advice and guidance.

We believe that it is especially important for our students, all of whom have an Education Health and Care Plan, that Careers Education Information and Guidance (CEIAG) permeates the whole school and is of the highest possible quality.

The CEIAG programme will promote equality of opportunity, celebrate diversity and challenge stereotypes.

The policy is guided by the 'Gatsby' benchmarks (Appendix 2) to ensure best practice and to conform to statutory requirements.

Under the Careers guidance we:

- include information on the full range of post 19 education or training options,
- present the information in an impartial manner
- promote the best interests of the students to whom it is given

Our Vision:

We are committed to:

- Raising aspirations for the future, developing ambitious, independent and resilient learners
- Equipping our children and young people with skills essential for lifelong learning, in preparation for adulthood
- Developing pioneering, inspiring and innovative practice, backed by action research
- Providing wide-ranging learning opportunities through an extensive range of strong partnerships, in collaboration with other schools and colleges
- Creating increasingly powerful connections to our local, regional, national and virtual communities

Roles and responsibilities

- All staff delivering CEIAG are accountable to the Headteacher as part of their professional responsibilities in the school.
- The Lead for Careers is Paul Wilson, Deputy Headteacher.
- Work Experience is planned and implemented by a General Teaching Assistant who works closely with the Careers Lead.
- The Independent Careers Advisor is responsible for maintaining the careers information stored in the school.

- The Independent Careers Advisor provides training and briefing sessions for staff on CEIAG at the request of the Headteacher or Careers Lead.

Principles:

Careers Guidance will focus on the specific needs of the individual student to promote self-awareness and personal development. It will aim to provide current and relevant information to enable each student to make informed decisions about their future. It will be presented in an impartial manner, be confidential and differentiated to suit the requirements of each individual student. Our careers education and guidance is fully integrated with the 'Work and Enterprise' strand of the Post 16 Lifestyles curriculum and with the PSHCHE strand of the curriculum for students in Yrs 9 - 11 which provides realistic and relevant opportunities for young people to develop knowledge and understanding of work and enterprise, to develop skills for enterprise and employability and to learn through direct experiences of work and enterprise. Students learn about work, learn from work and learn to work.

This will promote the following to all students:

- Self-development through careers and work-related education.
- Finding out about careers and the world of work
- Developing skills for career wellbeing and employability

Learn about work, learn from work and learn to work

- Self-development through careers and work-related education

Participation in career and work-related learning activities gives individuals valuable opportunities to discover more about themselves: who they are, how they are changing and who they could possibly become. They can also discover what inspires them, how they can be successful and what they can contribute. At Springhead School we encourage students to assess their strengths and weaknesses to inform future learning and work choices and develop positive self-esteem. They will understand themselves and the influences on them. Well-chosen and well-designed activities enable individuals to become more motivated and to take greater responsibility for their own learning, development and wellbeing.

- Finding out about careers and the world of work

Self-examination and exploration of careers and the world of work are two sides of the same coin. Looking inwards and looking outwards are central to the matching process when individuals weigh up where they could fit in, what the world of work has to offer them and what they have to offer in return. Looking outwards encompasses understanding careers and career progression, gaining useful insights into work and working life, understanding business and industry, knowing about the rights and responsibilities of workers and investigating opportunities. Students explore careers through the provision of a wide range of resources: computer software, books and leaflets, posters, subject related job displays, enterprise work, and access to our school's impartial careers guidance. They can experience the world of work first hand during work place visits, meeting external speakers from business, working with business advisers from Young Enterprise, taking part in Mock Interview sessions, meeting employers and people offering further education opportunities at our annual Moving on event and in some cases work placements. Through this extensive programme our students develop their understanding of the changing nature of work, learning and career choices, including the full range of post-19 education or training options, including Supported Internships.

- Developing skills for career wellbeing and employability

Individuals need to acquire and develop a range of skills to manage their own careers and to prepare themselves for employment and/or self-employment. They must, for example, know how to access and make use of sources of information and advice, be able to make plans and decisions and know how to follow them through. Individuals also need to be able to acquire and demonstrate the skills which will add value to an employer's business (or their own business if they are self-employed) while at the same time enabling them to release their own potential and to achieve satisfaction and success in their working lives. Knowing when and how to invest in their own learning throughout their lives can help them achieve their goals. Students also develop their ability to challenge all types of stereotyping and how to deal with prejudice and discrimination in the world of work.
